Brennan & Company Privacy Policy

The statement relates to our privacy practices in connection with this site. We are not responsible for the content or privacy practices of any other linked sites.

Brennan & Company respects the rights of its users.

For general web browsing no personal information is revealed to us, although certain statistical information is available to us via our internet service provider. This information may include:

- the logical address of the server you are using;
- the top level domain name from which you access the Internet (for example, .ie, .com, .org, etc);
- the type of browser you are using;
- the date and time you access our site;
- the internet address used to link to our site.

Some of the above information is used to create summary statistics which allow us to assess the number of visitors to our site, identify what pages are accessed most frequently and generally, help us to make our site more user friendly.

This website does not use 'cookies' to identify you personally or to detect your subsequent visits to this site.

Further information on your data privacy rights are available on the website of the Irish Data Protections Commissioner.

Any personal information which you volunteer to Brennan & Company will be treated with the highest standards of security and confidentiality, strictly in accordance with the Data Protection Act, 1988 and 2003. Any information which you provide in this way is not made available to any third parties. In addition, our email lists will not be passed onto third parties.
